

Sun Visor Arm with Notched Break Points

Abstract

The present invention provides for the absorbing of energy during an impact with the front edge of the sun visor and directing the sun visor out of the impact area such that the sun visor front edge does not break under impact by the use of a sun visor arm that incorporates energy absorbing and directional collapsing through the use of breakaway notches in the sun visor arm.